Product overview

Svelte is a pull-up style continence consumable for routine use by adults who use absorbent underwear as part of day-to-day continence management.

Svelte is supplied as a product only. No clinical services, assessments or therapy are included.

Designed in Australia and crafted in Japan.

Svelte products may be purchased in line with a participant's current NDIS plan where funded and appropriate to their individual needs.

Intended use

Svelte may be relevant where an adult participant:

- uses continence consumables for day-to-day living
- is mobile or semi-mobile
- uses regular changes as part of routine continence management
- prefers pull-up style products rather than taped briefs

Svelte is primarily intended for daytime use and may support light overnight use when changed as required, depending on individual needs, output, fit and change routine.

Not intended for

Svelte is not intended as the primary product for:

- extended single-garment overnight wear
- higher-volume overnight needs where changes are not possible
- regular or unpredictable faecal incontinence

A product type designed specifically for these needs may be more appropriate.
